Public Speaking.

Col. H. MARSHALL, Col. BEN. SELBY, Capt. R. T. JACOBS, and Maj. JOHN R. GATHRIGHT, will address the people at Abbotsford, Trimble county, on Friday, September 21, 1860.

MEMPHIS, CLARKSVILLE AND LOUISVILLE RAILROAD—THE EXCURSION AND FESTIVITIES.—The cars have been running through from Clarksville to Russellville since Wednesday last, and we are informed that the entire track to Bowling Green was finished on Thursday. The excursion train for Clarksville to-morrow will have on board the city authorities and officials of Louisville, Bowling Green, and Russellville. The excursionists will remain in Clarksville Tuesday night, and return Wednesday morning. A supper will be given them by the city and railroad authorities.

FAILED TO CONDEMN PROPERTY.—In a case before the Court on Friday, to condemn property, the jury failed to agree. The writ ad quod damnum was taken out by the Louisville and Portland Railroad Company against Mr. O'Herron, who owns 95 feet on Rowan street, on which the track of said Company is laid. Eleven of the jury fixed a certain amount as just damages, but the other would not agree to it. So the case must be tried over.

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—The exhibition of the Horticultural Society on Saturday, like all of the season, was very attractive and well attended. The fruits were, perhaps, not so great in quantity as in other exhibitions, but the quality could not be surpassed. The Peno and Cape grapes, shown by Mons Richey, particularly commanded the attention of horticulturists.

☞ Heller plays at Frankfort, Wednesday night.

MUSIC, DANCING, AND CUTTING.—Timothy Griffin was arrested Saturday night for cutting Pat Ryan, at a house on Second street near Water. The difficulty originated at a free and easy dance. Another man, who interfered with the officers, was also committed to jail. Subsequent to the arrest of these men, the crowd concluded the amusements by a general fight.

KNOCKED IN THE HEAD.—An Irishman was found Sunday morning, about three o'clock, on Fifth street, near Main, unconscious, and apparently dead. Some one had hit him on the head with a brick, but the name of the wounded man, or who the perpetrator of the outrage was, we are not informed. One of the policeman removed the injured person to a more suitable place, and went for a physician; but when he returned, the man had gone.

INCENDIARISM.—The stable on the premises of Breckinridge, the counterfeiter, on the alley between Hancock and Clay and Main and Market streets, was set on fire, Saturday night. A woman discovered it and gave the alarm, and the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

☞ The livery stable stock of horses, buggies, harness and rockaways (lately owned by Mr. Adams) on Second street between Main and Market, together with a lot of brood mares and John Henry colts, is to be sold at auction this morning by Mr. C. C. Spencer on liberal terms.

☞ We have been shown a life-like representation of John Bell and Stephen A. Douglas, gotten up by that distinguished physician and artist, Dr. H. Gates. The friends and admirers of these distinguished gentlemen are requested to call at his office, corner of Third and Market streets, and examine specimens.

☞ Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co., sold on Saturday afternoon, at public auction, the dwelling house and store formerly occupied by Mr. William B. Clifton, on Sixth street, near Broadway, for $8,200. Mr. Sandford Duncan was the purchaser. The attendance was quite large and the bidding prompt.

☞ The proprietors of Walker's Exchange seem determined to keep their patrons supplied with all the delicacies of the season. They have again received a fine lot of soft shell crabs, besides shell oysters, young grouse and quail, which will be served in the best possible style.

LEXINGTON RACES.—The regular Fall Meeting over the Association Course, Lexington, commences to-day, with the produce stake for three year olds, with twenty-eight nominations. There are a great many horses on the grounds, and fine sport is anticipated.

☞ Mr. Spencer's sale of fine gold watches, jewelry, Diamonds and plated ware will be continued this morning (Monday) at his auction rooms. Great bargains were made by purchasers at his sale on Saturday last. We advise buyers to attend this sale. The stock is elegant.

MURDER.—James McNamara was foully murdered on the road, near Versailles, Ky., a few days since. Several persons were arrested on suspicion and subsequently discharged. A man named Donegan is now suspected of the murder, but he has fled the State.

☞ Heller plays at Frankfort, Wednesday night.

A REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER.—Cornelius Clements died recently at Rutherfordton, N. C. He was in his 104th year, had served in the battle of King's Mountain, and always took delight in telling of the skirmishes of his early days.

POST-OFFICES.—A post-office has been established at McDaniel's Store, Breckinridge county, Ky. Those at Sand Spring, Daviess county, and Radford, Calloway county, have been discontinued.

☞ Geo. Harman, who was accused of passing a counterfeit five dollar bill on a woman, was discharged Saturday. There was no proof that the bill was the one that he gave the woman.

☞ Mary E. Dougherty killed herself with a dose of strychnine, last week, in Albia, Iowa. Her female associates had scandalized her.

☞ Heller plays at Frankfort, Wednesday night.

BRECKINRIDGE'S SPEECH.

We are now printing pamphlet copies of this great speech as rapidly as our steam presses can throw them off, but the orders for them are so numerous that it will be impossible to fill all now on file before the latter part of this week. Our friends must therefore be patient.

Persons ordering this speech must direct how they are to be sent. If forwarded by mail, it is requisite that they send us one cent additional per copy, as that is the rate of postage and must be prepaid.

SECOND ESCAPE OF A MURDERER.—About a year and a half ago, a man by the name of Wm. Ross, in Gallatin county, Kentucky, shot a man named John Kelly, while plowing in his field, dead in his tracks. There was no witness to the fact; but there was circumstances which pointed to Ross as the perpetrator of the foul deed, and he was arrested and lodged in jail in Warsaw.—While awaiting his trial he contrived to break jail and make his escape to parts unknown. Nothing was heard of him or his whereabouts for upward of a year, when a friend of the brother of the murdered man stumbled upon him, a few weeks ago in the mountains bordering on the Kouawha river. Thus put upon his track, the brother captured him, and again lodged him in the jail at Warsaw, where, it is supposed, he would have remained in irons until his trial.

On Wednesday night last it seems the aforesaid murderer once more broke jail, and fled for his life. He found his way to Cincinnati unmolested, and on Thursday morning he was seen by an acquaintance to take the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton cars on his way to Canada, which harbor he has no doubt edly gained ere this.

THE HELLER CONCERT.—Our co-temporaries are rather enthusiastic at the coming complimentary concert to Robert Heller. Heller's skill has won for him so great a reputation among musicians and lovers of that classic music of which he is said to be the best exponent in America, and he so seldom can be persuaded to play in public, that the anxiety of our brother journalist to hear him is fully shared by that numerous class of our citizens who are or affect to be capable of appreciating the the highest efforts of Beethoven and Mendelssohn.

This concert will probably be the most fashionably attended of the present season, and Tuesday night will be marked with a white stone by our musical societies, to members of which we are indebted for the opportunity it will afford us all of hearing the great pianist.—Not only will this concert be the most fashionably attended, but from the programme selected, the ability of Mr. Heller, and the absence of first class instrumental talent at present in the country, it probably will also be the greatest artistic success. Why will not Mr. Heller more frequently give the public an opportunity of hearing him? Great talents are not given to be hidden, but to be exercised for the benefit of all.

NOT WANTED.—Loafers in an editor's room.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.—Frank Miller, Orderly Sergeant of Company G, Fifth Infantry, lately posted in Camp Floyd, but now in New Mexico, recently shot a woman (name not given) who accompanied the regiment from Utah. It appears that the parties were engaged to be married, and the ceremony was to have been performed in New Mexico, but after their arrival she for some cause or other "bolted," and while they were sitting in a tent together, he drew a revolver and shot her, the ball entering her throat. At the same time he discharged the contents of another barrel at his own breast, the ball penetrating to his heart. They both expired at almost the same moment.

THE DISTRICT FAIR AT NEW ALBANY.—Every preparation has been made by the officers to make the fair at New Albany this week a decided success. The display of stock will be large, and as fine as any ever seen in the State; and it is believed that the mechanical, agricultural, and miscellaneous departments, will exceed that of the State Fair last year. We hope that many of our Kentuckians will improve the chance and be present.

☞ Heller plays at Franklort, Wednesday night.

REMOVAL — INSURANCE.—James E. Tyler & Co., the well-known insurance agents, have removed to the spacious rooms over the store of Hegan & Escott on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth. This firm represents a number of the strongest and best insurance companies in the country, from which those desiring insurance could not fail to select one that is safe and reliable. Tyler & Co. have been in the business here many years, and no agents stand higher here or elsewhere. We commend them the public.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT AND DISTRICT COURTS.—The first term of the United States Circuit and District Courts, required to be held by the late act of Congress, was held at Covington, commencing on Monday last. The next regular term is fixed for the second Monday in September.

The Circuit Judge has fixed the regular terms at Paducah, to commence on the third Mondays in September and March in each year. The first regular term at Louisville will commence on the 21th Instant, and the next on the 4th Monday in April.

RUNNING OFF A NEGRO.—On Saturday a woman closely valled accompanied by an old man was observed on the Jeffersonville cars, near Lawrenceburg. Before reaching Seymour an attache of the road discovered that the woman was a negro. He directed the attention of an officer at Seymour to the fact, but the train left before the pair could be arrested. Doubtless the white rascal was running off the woman to a land of freedom.

☞ Hungary begins to move. The great festival of St. Stephen, on the 20th of August, was celebrated in the most patriotic style in all the cities, towns, and villages. The universal cry was, "let us have our ancient constitutional rights." Many speeches were made in the spirit of the cry.

NASHVILLE FREIGHT.—An advertisement advises the public that freights for Nashville and South of that point will be received to-day at the depot. Way freights at the prescribed hours.

☞ Several of those particularly fine painted photographs, such as are only made by Elrod, have just been completed. They are excellent likenesses of some of our most prominent citizens. Everybody should see them before they are sent home.

DOUGLAS IN LOUISIANA.—The New Orleans Courier states, as a remarkable fact, that there is not a Douglas man in the great Democratic parish of Lafayette. The same is said of the parish of Avoyelles.

SOUTHERN RESTAURANT.—Our old friend, Panzer, who is always ahead of everybody in the eating line, sets a fine lunch this morning. Turtle soup, in which he excels, will be served in his inimitable style.

☞ The burglars are at work in New Albany. Bowman's grocery, on Spring street, was entered Saturday morning by one of these gentry, who failed, however, to secure anything valuable.

☞ A house on Main street, between Tenth and Eleventh, was entered by a thief on Friday night, who abstracted a silver lever watch and escaped with his booty.

LYNCH LAW.—John Shear, a horse thief, and A. C. Ford, a lawyer, and a desperate and bad man, were hung by mobs in the Pike's Peak gold regions, a few weeks since.

☞ Heller plays at Frankfort, Wednesday night.

☞ Saturday two little chaps, about as big as a minute, set on fire lawyer Bruce's fence, on Broadway, and it burnt up. The boys probably did it accidentally.

☞ F. McNairy's harness stallion, Louis Napoleon, took the $500 prize at the Nashville Fair on Friday. He made the mile in 2:34½.

☞ Thanks to our friend Capt. Fish Henry, of Adams & Co. Express, for Nashville papers in advance of the mail.

ACCIDENT.—A child named Hallilday, who lives on Portland Avenue, fell down stairs yesterday, and broke its arm.

☞ We were blessed with a fine fall of rain yesterday.

LOUISVILLE THEATER—THE OPENING NIGHT.—This place of amusement will be open to-night, when Miss Bateman will appear in the piece, Geraldine, which has never been played here.—The Boston Post thus refers to this play:

We have, already, frequently spoken of "Geraldine," now being performed at the Howard Athenæum, but as it seems this tragedy is the topic of the day, we return to it again. Indeed, it is almost a matter of necessity with us to do so, for every succeeding night that we have witnessed its performance, we have been dragged, as it were, into more intimacy in the drama. "Geraldine" is a blossom of literature, the full beauties of which are not revealed at the first glance. But as the sun of popular favor shines upon it, and as the spectator returns periodically to inspect it, it slowly unfolds itself, and displays by degrees the secrets of beauty hidden in its bosom. This general revealment of the interior genius we have witnessed, and in this reluctance of disclosures, we think we see the secret which, night after night, attracts the same patrons to the boxes of the Howard, and binds them there as if with a spell. Seriously, and without exaggeration, we say we think it impossible to find in the range of the modern drama a grander conception than that with which the last act of "Geraldine" terminates. In the midst of a scene of splendid revelry, where the head of the wild boar smokes on the ample board, and the red wine has gone round, and the smiles of the high born ladies of the castle have blessed with their sunshine the purple libations, the gray-haired, mysterious minstrel enters. He brings with him a presentiment of evil. There is death and danger in the air.—The fires of prophecy sparkle in his eye.—The antique Nemesis seems to have come again, and a thrill, silent, but visible, runs through the gay throngs—the chill of impending disaster. His chant commences. To wild sweeps of the harp he recites his tragical allegory. As in each succeeding verse the hidden sense of the fable dawns on the mind of the baron, and on the other brains of the retainers, the dark truth impresses itself, the sensation that stirs the throng deepens, and murmurs of indignation creep from lip to lip like the sounds of the sea when storms approach. At last the fierce old singer launches his final bolt. The conscience-stricken lord temporizes—his feet wild with rage. The sounds of strife and imprecations ring throughout the hall. The daughter of the house, pale, trembling, but amazed, rises in terror at this unwonted tumult. She strives to interfere, and unexpectedly upon her head pours the awful curse from the lips of the minstrel. In vain she pleads for mercy. The curse is spoken, it speaks on, and the curtain falls on a situation, which, for dramatic force, has never been excelled. Nor are the succeeding scenes much less effective. That wild, terrible entrance of the poor girl, when, for the first time hearing whispered in her ear the infamy with the utterance of acute anguish she questions the crafty Prior. The scene of the intended murder reveals one of the most beautiful speeches in the piece. The Prior, who has been inciting murderous thoughts in Geraldine's brain by suggesting the removal of her sister, Edith, whose love he intends doing with the guilty Edith. With peculiar subtlety she explains her murderous plan—she will "recall the wandering angel back that watched her childhood's hours." This is an exquisite figurative method of stating an unpleasant and repulsive resolve. The language, with which Geraldine answers the Prior, who, believing that she has assassinated Edith, questions her with thirsty malice, while she who only killed herself replies that "the life of her which stood twixt Herbert and long years of wedded love, is sibling, but the life of the young men of Paris crazy. Not only was the cafe constantly full of persons attracted to see her, but the Boulevard near was often crowded. After a while she disappeared, and it was given out that she was living in grand style under the protection of some wealthy person. But after an eclipse of some fifteen years she emerged into light again, at the office of the correctional police, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Her history was brief. This woman's name was Jenny Jackson. She married very young, and her husband in taking her had no other object than to speculate on her beauty. He had paraded her in the Cafe Frascati; but she felt humiliated, and obtained a separation from him. Then, unfortunately, she went astray; she fell in with a great English nobleman, and he spent millions of francs on her. But after a while she formed an attachment for a student, and left the nobleman to join him! For him she sold her diamonds and cachemeres, and when she had nothing left he abandoned her, giving her the worthless obligation of 50,000f. Reduced to the lowest poverty at last, she tried to raise money by passing herself off as a Countess and the heir to large estates.

BRIGHAM YOUNG A DEFAULTER.—A dispatch from Washington says the accounts of Brigham Young, as ex officio superintendent of Indian affairs in Utah, have just undergone a long and searching scrutiny, and that they show he is a defaulter to the Government to a considerable extent. A special agent has been dispatched to Utah to undertake the recovery of the money.

An Important Letter from Maine.

The Maine Election—The Causes of the Result—Facts and Figures—The Determination of the Democracy of that State—All eyes are turned to Kentucky—The objects of the Douglasites—They have a distinct understanding with the Anti-Slavery men—An Eloquent Appeal to Kentuckians, &c., &c.

BANGOR, ME., Sept. 11, 1860.

Editors Louisville Courier: Our election is over, and the result is what might have been expected. Douglasism has done its worst, and the Democracy are defeated by 20,000 majority. The Black Republicans have chosen their Governor, secured every member of Congress, carried the Legislature, electing every member of the Senate and three-fourths of the House.

What has produced this untoward result? It is well that the Electors of Kentucky should understand, for the same causes that have operated in Maine have produced their blighting effect in nearly all the Northern States. It is the Fraserdemocrat of the Democratic party that causes its constantly occurring defeats.

At the Presidential election in 1856 the vote of Maine was:

Democratic	29,080
Opposition (Repub. and Amer.)	70,504
Opposition majority	41,471

In 1858 the Democratic State Convention passed thoroughly national resolutions, nominated a thoroughly national man for Governor, and the party went into the tight boldly and resolutely defending the administration of James Buchanan and the principles of the Dred Scott decision. Our speakers and papers denounced Abolitionism and Freesoilism in every form, and fearlessly proclaimed the doctrine of the equality of the States in the common Territories. The result of that battle was as follows:

Smith, (Dem.)	52,416
Murrill, (Rep. and Opp.)	60,380
Opposition majority	7,964

Standing on the foundation stone of the Constitution, the Democracy of Maine that year increased their own vote more than 13,000, and reduced the vote of the Opposition more than 10,000, making a net gain of nearly 24,000 votes on the Presidential election. The result filled them with hope, and they felt that the next year would bring them victory. And so it would, but in June, 1859, by trick, chicanery, and fraud of the most infamous character, the Fresesoil element of the party obtained control of the State Convention, and of the Committee on Resolutions, and the result was that the National platform was ignored, and the party was forced on to the untenable and utterly indefensible ground of "Squatter Sovereignty." The dog returned to his vomit, and we were defeated, horse, foot, and dragoon.

Last June the Freesoil element again got control of the State Convention. DOUGLAS and his Squatter Sovereignty doctrine were fully indorsed, and EPHRAIM K. SMART, a notorious Abolitionist and Wilmot Provisoist, was nominated for Governor. The cry was raised in every nook and corner of the State that DOUGLAS was "in the hearts of the people," and that Maine would go for SMART in September by a decided majority. Under these circumstances the friends of BRECKINRIDGE and LANE determined that they would not stand in the way of the defeat of Black Republicanism, but would do all in their power to elect Col. Smart. Our State Treasury had just been robbed of nearly $200,000, and innumerable abuses had crept into the State Government under successive Republican administrations. These abuses Col. SMART stood pledged to reform. Setting aside his own Abolition notions, and the nauseating Douglas Squatter platform on which he was placed, everything was most favorable to his triumphant election. Breckinridge men labored in good faith for the success of the ticket, but when they called at the Douglas "half-way house" for the rank and file of the party, whither they had been seduced by the Freesoil leaders, they found that they had slipped beyond, and had become the victims of Black Republicanism.

With the disastrous result of yesterday's contest before their eyes, the National Democracy of Maine have determined to raise the Constitutional banner of the "Equality of the States," and to go forth to battle under that single handed and alone. Never again will they consent to be placed on the Abolition platform; never again will they vote for men who wear the garb of Democracy, but who are at heart Abolitionists. In the Bangor Daily Union, of this morning, appears a call for a State Mass Convention, to nominate a Breckinridge and Lane electoral ticket. That call will be responded to by thousands of the National Democracy of Maine, and you will hear of such a demonstration as has never yet taken place in the Pine Tree State. From the day of that Convention will date the eternal separation of all true Democrats from the diseased and destroying Freesoil element of the party. Once more planted on the just and immutable principles of our Federal compact, the people will flock to their standard, and the old Democratic flag will again float from our capitol.

Towards Kentucky, at the present hour, the eyes of loyal Northern men are directed with deep solicitude. If she shall be true to her honored son, our national standard-bearer, the Constitution and the Union will have gained another victory, and the Democracy of the North will again have been placed on the high road to success in nearly every free State. If the electors of Kentucky are true to their own interests, and are not deceived, they will give the vote of their State to BRECKINRIDGE and LANE.

Are the electors of Kentucky aware what motives actuate the Douglas leaders of New England? We have already intimated that they are at the head of the Freesoil element of the Democratic party. They are as determined to prohibit the extension of slavery into the Territories as WILLIAM H. SEWARD himself. They are Emancipationists. They believe, aye more, they know that there is a large disguised Emancipation party in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, and Texas. With that party they have a distinct understanding. Their plan is to break down the Democratic party of the South by means of DOUGLAS and his doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty, and thus pave the way for the abolition of slavery in the States I have named.—This is no idle speculation. It is the knowledge of this fact that leads the National men of Maine to look with amazement at the ten thousand votes declared for the Douglas candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals in your recent election. Will do we know here, that every vote cast for Douglas in Kentucky, in November next, whether wittingly or unwittingly, is a vote for Emancipation.

The Black Republican party have proclaimed that the General Government shall not recognize the institution of slavery. The Douglas party in New England, and, so far as I know, in the Middle States, concur with them. Let LINCOLN or DOUGLAS be elected, and the South will not only look in vain to

The Norfolk Questions Again—Mr. Breckinridge and the Opposition—Mr. Bell and his Position.

The Journal, with an ability and adroitness worthy of itself, labors to make something out of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE'S failure to reply directly to questions which were never asked him. Its want of success is to be attributed to the lack of a decent cause in which to display the skill and tact which all so freely admit it possesses.

It urges, first, that if Mr. BRECKINRIDGE appeared before the public simply to repel the charge of "personal disunionism," his failure to reply to the questions proposed to Mr. DOUGLAS at Norfolk was an omission to avail himself of "the only testimony adapted to remove the reproach effectually." And why? Mr. BRECKINRIDGE'S assertion, without reference to the interrogatories in question, is seems to us, would be quite as strong testimony, as his assertion in reply thereto; and a reply to those questions would merely have been an expression of his own sentiments, and would have no more weight, and would be entitled to no more, than his strong and emphatic declaration that he is free from the "slightest taint of disloyalty to the Constitution and Union of his country." And while Mr. BRECKINRIDGE did not speak simply to repel the charge of "personal disunionism," the public will judge whether and how far he met the attacks upon himself; and we venture to say no honest man, no matter what party he may be connected with, who may read his speech, will hesitate to say that his vindication is complete. Indeed, so far as the charge of disunionism against himself is concerned, the opponents of the Democracy and the enemies of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE have grown ashamed of it, and abandoned it. The DOUGLAS organ here, has in direct terms admitted that Mr. BRECKINRIDGE is not a disunionist. The Journal itself, only yesterday morning, denies that "the charge of personal disunion" was "ever alleged against him." Consequently, he stands himself, by his own strong affirmation, by the record of his public life, by the testimony of his political associates, and by the full and frank, though forced, admission of his opponents, free from the charge of disunionism.

But, unable to make anything of these questions against Mr. BRECKINRIDGE in person, the organ maintains with the stubbornness peculiar to those who feel that while their positions are untenable they must yet stand by them, that the fact that they were not directly answered "convicts" the Democratic candidate of being the "head of a disunion party."

This position strikes us as being so palpably absurd that if it was not taken by one so respectable and influential, we should not deem it worthy of one moment's consideration. How could Mr. BRECKINRIDGE affect the position of his party by any answer he might give questions addressed to him? Has he authority to change, or modify, or take from, or add to, the platform of his party? If the Democratic party is a disunion organization, it was made so by the action of its National Conventions—by the principles upon which it stands—by its platform; and nothing Mr. BRECKINRIDGE might say would change it. If it is not a disunion party—and that it is not, the common sense and intelligence of an honest public will bear witness—nothing Mr. BRECKINRIDGE could say would make it one. The position of the Democratic party is fixed—fixed without regard to the wishes of any one man—fixed beyond the possibility of change except by the action of a National Convention—fixed for the next four years, and its position on every question may be learned from its platform, or cannot be known at all. That platform, Mr. BRECKINRIDGE explained and defended, not alone sustaining it by arguments to which no answer can be attempted, by logic too powerful to be resisted, by appeals to the reason and intelligence of the people of the nation, but fortifying it by the authority of the most eminent and patriotic men of the opposition. A candid public will not deny that he refuted satisfactorily and conclusively the charge of being the "head of a disunion party."

But we yet maintain that if it is important that the position of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE in regard to the question covered by the Norfolk interrogatories be known, it is at least equally important that Mr. BELL should speak.—Mr. BRECKINRIDGE has a platform: Mr. BELL has none. Mr. BRECKINRIDGE is admitted to be opposed to disunionism: Mr. BELL may be shown to be either in favor of a dissolution of the Union or against it, by his record, to which he has referred for his position. Is Mr. BRECKINRIDGE supported by men who are in favor of a disruption of the confederacy if the rights of the States be violated? So is Mr. BELL'S election advocated by those who have boldly and unequivocally maintained the right of secession, and asserted the duty of withdrawing from the Union in a certain contingency. And further: Is not Mr. BELL supported by men in the free States who maintain doctrines which he himself believes to be antagonistic to the Constitution? Mr. BELL has said: "I SAY, GIVE ME SEPARATION; GIVE ME DISUNION; give me anything in preference to a Union sustained only by power, by Constitutional and legal ties, without reciprocal trust and confidence"—has he ever said that he would advise or vindicate the coercion of a seceding State from the Union by force? Is there anything in his record to indicate what he would do in such a case? He would prefer dissolution to being continually harassed by a Northern majority, even though the Constitution should not be violated, nor the laws nullified—what would he do as President, should the Southern States withdraw from the Union in consequence of the nullification of the fugitive slave law, and of a persistent and continued violation of the Constitution in other respects? Can any one answer for him? And if Mr. BRECKINRIDGE ought to speak to such a question, is there not at least equal reason why the padlock should be taken from the lips of JOHN BELL, until he could tell what he would do?

No, gentlemen of the Know Nothing-Opposition-Union party, Mr. BRECKINRIDGE has never said that he would prefer "disunion," "separation," "anything," to a Union "sustained only by Constitutional and legal enactments." Mr. BRECKINRIDGE will never, never consent, to a disruption of the Union as long as it is sustained by "Constitutional and legal ties." His party is committed to no such sentiment as the one quoted from Mr. BELL. There was and is no necessity for Mr. BRECKINRIDGE defining his position; there is a reason why BELL should speak. But there is a lock upon his lips. He dares not open his mouth. He cannot utter a word. He is dumb as an oyster. Without any platform, without any expression of opinion on the questions entering into the canvass, with a contradictory and unsatisfactory record, he can only say to his friends who have begged him to speak: "To the inquiries in all such letters, there was but one reply, as I conceived, which could consistently and properly be made, under the circumstances of my position, which was to refer the writers to my past course, to views and opinions I have heretofore held and expressed on the subjects or questions embraced in their letters." (See his letter to T. H. WATTS, of Montgomery, Ala., dated July 22d, 1860.

Mr. BELL is mum; but while his friends even cannot get a word from him or induce him to make known his position in the faintest whisper, they make a terrible fuss because MR. BRECKINRIDGE is not sufficiently outspoken to suit their notions of what a Democratic candidate should do.

Remember, people of Kentucky, the position in which MR. BELL stands—that he not only fails to answer questions put to him in writing by his own friends, but refuses to do so, saying the only reply he can make, is to refer the question to his past course. Remember, that he is the mum candidate—that he has a padlock upon his lips—that he dare not speak. And remembering these things, read the noble, free, frank, unhesitating speech of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE, and compare the course of the two men.

The Indiana Election.

We have no disposition to interfere in the local concerns of the Hoosiers. We believe they are fully capable of settling their own affairs in their own way. We have not obtruded our advice upon them, and shall not do so now.

But in a few weeks, an important election is to be held in Indiana for State officers. A majority of the State ticket are said to be DOUGLAS men; and, on that ground, we have seen distinct intimations, in papers published in other States, of an intention to claim the success of that ticket as a DOUGLAS triumph. So far, the Democracy of that State have not done as the Squatters did here, opposed the ticket, and have not, and will not, vote for the negro-worshippers to defeat those who are using their name to break down their party, though the Douglasites here did support COMBS, Know Nothing, to defeat a regular Democratic nominee. But hoping to elect the Squatter State ticket through the support of BRIGHT and FITCH, and the true Democracy there, they have informed us, in indirect terms, of their intention to call a success thus obtained, not a Democratic, but a DOUGLAS triumph; and those by whose aid it is hoped to elect their candidates are denounced as "nassassins." In comparison with whom the Black Republicans are men engaged in honorable warfare. And rejecting the overtures for a united ticket against the Black Republicans, which was made by the friends of the National Administration, the "aid of the BELL men" is invoked to enable the Douglasites to succeed—co-operation with Democrats is refused, and co-operation with those whose oaths against foreign-born and Catholic citizens are yet fresh on the paper where they were recorded, is invited!

Under these circumstances, the Democratic State Central Committee of Indiana meet today, to determine upon the propriety of nominating a full Democratic State ticket. What they will do, is uncertain. With more time to canvass the State, it is probable a ticket would be nominated; but candidates put in the field now, would have no time to see the people, to make their claims known, and to perfect arrangements to bring out their friends, and we presume no ticket will be nominated. We hope none will be.

If no ticket be nominated, the course of the Douglasites must determine whether the Democrats there will go to the polls and vote for HENDRICKS and the ticket, or remain at home and let the Squatters and their Bell-Know-Nothing allies fight it out.

It then becomes important to know what the friends of DOUGLAS intend. Will they claim HENDRICKS' election as a DOUGLAS victory?—Will they claim HENDRICKS' vote as a test of DOUGLAS strength? Let us know. They owe it to themselves, if they mean honesty—and to the people—to give a frank answer.

Douglas' Concord Speech.

The Squatter organ quotes, in capitals, and keeps it standing in its columns, the following extract from "DOUGLAS' Concord speech:"

THE PRESIDENT TOLD ME THAT IF I DID NOT OBEY HIM, AND VOTE TO FORCE THAT LECOMPTON CONSTITUTION ON THE PEOPLE OF KANSAS AGAINST THEIR WILL, THAT HE WOULD TAKE OFF THE HEAD OF EVERY FRIEND I HAD IN OFFICE. [Applause.] I TOLD HIM IN REPLY THAT MY FRIENDS WERE AS DEAR TO ME AS THOSE OF ANY OTHER MAN COULD BE TO HIM; BUT THAT IF I HAD A FRIEND WHO WAS NOT WILLING TO LOSE HIS OFFICE RATHER THAN TO DEGRADE ME INTO A TOOL OF THE EXECUTIVE POWER, HE DID NOT DESERVE TO BE MY FRIEND.

But it will never append to this unblushing falsehood of its candidate, the following emphatic contradiction from JAMES BUCHANAN, President of the United States:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11, 1860.

My Dear Sir: I have received your favor of the 8th inst., inclosing a printed extract from the recent speech of Mr. Douglas at Concord. You inform me that you expected to be at the Convention at Charlottesville, and would be glad to know something of the interview referred to in that speech: "The President told me if I did not obey him, and vote to force the Lecompton Constitution on the people against their will, he would take off the head of every friend I had in office." It is unnecessary to quote the alleged reply of the Judge.

SURELY THERE MUST HAVE BEEN SOME MISTAKE IN THE REPORT OF THE SPEECH, BECAUSE I NEVER HELD ANY SUCH CONVERSATION WITH JUDGE DOUGLAS; NOR ANY CONVERSATION AFFORDING THE LEAST COLOR OR PRETEXT FOR SUCH A STATEMENT. It was not in my nature to address such a threatening language to any gentleman. Besides, I have not removed one in ten of his friends, and not one of his relatives. Even among those of his friends who have rendered themselves prominently hostile to the measures of the Administration, a majority still remain in office.

I MIGHT ADD, THAT I HAVE NEVER HELD A POLITICAL CONVERSATION WITH JUDGE DOUGLAS ON THIS OR ANY OTHER SUBJECT, SINCE THE DAY MY FIRST ANNUAL MESSAGE OF THE EIGHTH OF DECEMBER, 1857, WAS READ IN THE SENATE; and I did not transmit the Kansas Constitution to Congress until the 2d of February, 1858, the question of slavery not having been decided by a vote of the people until the 21st of December, 1857.

* * * * * * *

Yours most truly, JAMES BUCHANAN.

HON. WM. SMITH.

A Contradiction.

We have been informed by a gentleman of high position, and whose statements no one can doubt, that in a recent interview with Mr. Guthrie, he, (Mr. Guthrie,) stated that soon after the nomination of Mr. Breckinridge the editors of the Courier called on him and urged him to declare his approbation of Mr. Breckinridge's nomination and pledge himself to his support.—To this he replied emphatically, "that he could not support Mr. Breckinridge because by so doing he would be giving aid to the election of Lincoln."

We find the above paragraph in the Sandy Valley Advocate of the 12th ult.

It is due to Mr. GUTHRIE, to Mr. BRECKINRIDGE, and to the Democracy of Kentucky, that we "emphatically" correct the error into which somebody has fallen. Mr. GUTHRIE need no such language in any conversation we ever had with him; and we have not heard of his giving expression to the statement attributed to him at any time, on any occasion, or to any person, and we do not believe he has done so.

A FREE SHOW.—DOUGLAS is making free exhibitions of himself to gaping crowds who gather, not to hear him talk, but to see him, as they would some remarkable animal fresh from the jungles of India or the deserts of Siberia.

An Ohio Bellite.

GEN CAREY, a leading Oppositionist or Union Saver in Ohio, said recently:

That it was known that he had been an ardent Fillmore man. He had been and was an admirer of John Bell. If he lived in Kentucky he would vote for him. "But why not vote for him here?" It is asked. Why? Because I might just as well open a gloaring store and stick my ballot into the fire and say at home vote for Bell in Ohio, and I am determined to beat this infernal Lonsfoot party if I can.

☞ The Old Line Guard, the organ of the sterling Democracy of Indiana, thus refers to the Pennsylvania election:

Senator Bigler and other shrewd politicians of Pennsylvania say, that Breckinridge and Lane will carry that State by 40,000 majority. Douglas has gone there to break up the fusion of both sections of the Democrats on the Electoral ticket, as he did in Connecticut. Our friends say he can't do it. They are getting their eyes open to his treason, and now begin to look upon him as a second Van Buren. As Pennsylvania goes, so will go New Jersey; and these States, with a united South, will put Breck. and Lane through.

☞ DOUGLAS, on his stumping tour for the Presidency, will "probably"—so the organ says—reach Louisville. If so, he will draw as big a crowd as DAN RICE, or a free exhibition by HELLER—probably.

SPEECH OF HON. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.—The able speech of this noble standard-bearer of the National Democracy, delivered at Ashland, Ky., Sept. 5th, reached us too late yesterday evening for insertion in to-day's issue. The Democracy of Kentucky and the Union will have no cause to regret the delivery of this address. It is a complete and thorough vindication of the champion of our cause from the aspersions of those within, as well as without, the Democratic camp. As we shall publish this address in Monday's Daily and Extra, and also in our Semi-Weekly issue, such of our friends as may desire extra copies will please make it known early on Monday. Our Democratic Association in Baltimore has ordered 20,000 copies of this great speech.—[Richmond (Va.) Examiner.

☞ After an experience of one year in putting up Vulcanite Base, Messrs. Fitts & Fillon are more fully prepared to indorse its claims of superiority to everything else as a base for Artificial Teeth. When they introduced it in Louisville, they advertised it as follows: That it was one half lighter than metal, more durable, and that they were more certain of getting a perfect fit of the roof. They now go further, and say that it is much stronger than any on record, and less liable to be injured by accident, while the low price brings it within the reach of all. Believing that their efforts to give the best work at small profits will be appreciated, they have determined on a reduction of their prices. To substantiate the above they pledge themselves to replace with gold, without extra charge, any set on Vulcanite that fails in any one particular as set forth above. They still put up the gold work for those who desire it.

DAILY COURIER.

The Purposes of Garibaldi.

Of course the British "Thunderer" has to canvass the probable ends Garibaldi has in view.

After stating that the fate of Italy depends upon his ultimate intentions, it thus refers to his past achievements:

From the subordinate position of a partisan leader, clearing the front of the French and beating up the quarters of the Austrians, he has raised himself by his gallantry and enterprise to a position in which he may fairly be ranked among those influences which dispose of the destiny of that country which he has loved so well and served so truly. He is fettered by no treaty obligations, by no dynastic traditions.—The nature of his position relieves him from the necessity of following anything except the dictates of his own judgment and the suggestions of his own genius. Kings and Emperors are small indeed beside a man who, with nothing to rely on but his name, his intelligence, and his courage, has found means to raise himself to a position which places in his hand, as we can easily show, the future destinies of Italy.

The future policy of the Italian leader excites some fears on the part of the Times, as will be seen by the following comments:

We know not what are Garibaldi's intentions, but, if we are able to judge of them from what reaches us, we regard them with more apprehension than hope. He is said to view the conquest of Sicily only as a stepping-stone to the conquest of Naples, and the united forces of Sicily and Naples as a means for working out the delivery of the patrimony of St. Peter, if not of Rome itself, from the sovereignty of the Pope. Thus Lord of Southern Italy, he proposes, it is said, to attack the Austrian Empire, probably by creating a revolution in Hungary, and never to sheathe his sword till Italy, including the province of Venetia, shall acknowledge the single sceptre of Victor Emmanuel.

If this plan has much of the daring, it has also much of the extravagance of genius. For ourselves we have not the slightest objection that Garibaldi should advance as far as he can go, encountering merely Italian opposition.—If he shall overthrow the Kingdom of Naples, he will deliver one of the finest portions of the earth from a cruel and hopeless tyranny. If he shall wrest the patrimony of St. Peter from the Pope, he will free a people possessed of many noble qualities from the yoke of a degrading theocracy. These things Garibaldi may do in all probability without drawing down upon himself the armed interference of France or Austria. Let him draw the line here, and he may reasonably hope to leave to posterity a name that will rank with Epaminondas or Arntus, in ancient, or with Tell or Washington in modern, story.

Singular Infatuation.

Several years ago a chrens company performed in Lancaster, N. H. While there, a bright and very active lad attracted the attention of some members of the company, and they persuaded him to join them, and become an equestrian.—The lad's parents were wealthy people, residing in Concord, the capital of the State, and he was attending the academy in Lancaster. Like most lads, he was fascinated with the glitter and flash of the ring, and gladly joined the company in question. Waiting until they had reached the next town, he stole away in the night, and enrolled himself in the sawdust ranks. He became, in time, a very skillful rider, and seemed well pleased with his avocation, and might have just have often thought of his home and friends in Concord. His parents had made every effort to find him, but without success, and they at length came to mourn him as dead. Some three years ago an elder brother recognized him among the performers of the circus company at Natchez, in Mississippi, and persuaded him to leave the ring and return to his home and parents in Concord. The boy, now almost a man, by the way, was cordially welcomed home. He re-entered the academy at Lancaster, and applied himself assiduously to his studies. He made such rapid progress, indeed, that in a year's time he was fitted for college. He entered Dartmouth and was making the progress, when, most unfortunately for him, a circus company performed in Hanover one day in summer. It is unprofitable to us, but the horses, the tinsel, and the music had still a charm for him—a fatal charm—and he yielded to it. He threw the classics aside and re-entered the arena. It is needless to say that his conduct excited the most profound sorrow among his friends, but they concluded that it would be useless to again endeavor to make him abandon the ring. A few weeks since, while riding in Robinson's circus, at Knoxville, Tenn., he was thrown from his horse. His neck was broken by the fall, and he died almost instantly. He was riding what is technically called the "bareback act," on a naked horse, leaping over streamers and through hoops. We get these particulars from a brother of the ill-fated young man, who passed through the city yesterday on his way to Tennessee to obtain the body of the deceased. A few years hence the writer of this knew the young man's family very well. The young man was strictly sober, never using liquor or even tobacco. His abilities were of a superior order, and while at school he made remarkable progress in his studies. Since resuming the vocation of the ring, his relatives have often received letters from him, all breathing a tone of deep affection. But he wrote that he could never be happy in any other pursuit, and must follow it while he lived.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Accidental Discovery of Australian Gold.

All American readers are familiar with the accidental discovery of gold in California, in the widening of Sutter's mill-race. The account of a similar discovery in Australia is interesting:

In January, 1849, a shepherd went to Mr. Charles Brentani's shop, in Melbourne, and offered for sale a piece of quartz, thickly interspersed with gold. A great many questions were naturally asked, and, in reply, he described himself as a shepherd upon a station in the Pyrenees, in which locality he had picked up the gold; he added that he knew where there was plenty more to be procured. Mr. Brentani obtained the assistance of two working jewelers—Duchene and Forrester, and had a proper assay made. The mass was found to be pure gold and the shepherd, who gave his name as Chapman was sent for and fed and clothed by Mr. Brentani, who listened with amazement to the description which was given by his lodger of the auriferous regions of the Pyrenees.

Excited by dreams of treasure, he planned an expedition that, in company with the lucky shepherd, should proceed to the spot. The party left Melbourne with the utmost secrecy, taking with them a dray, which they proposed to fill with gold. M. Duchene returned to Melbourne some time after. It appeared that his more knowing companion had, according to his statement, given him the slip, not desiring that he should share in their good fortune; but this account did not appear satisfactory to Mrs. Brentani, who seemed to have a pretty good idea of the circumstances, husband had gone upon, and in her alarm for his safety, she charged Duchene with having taken his life; and, to save himself, he made a full disclosure of all the particulars. So far from allaying the fear of Mrs. Brentani, these facts only increased it, and M. Duchene, who was a Frenchman, would most likely have incurred the upon the charge of murder had not Brentani and the party opportunely returned.

The public curiosity was naturally excited by the strange disclosures which had been made, but all inquiries were for a while avoided. The party, however, had picked up two large nuggets weighing upwards of twenty ounces each. But the most extraordinary part of the affair was that Chapman disappeared. How, or under what circumstances, it is impossible to say, as the whole story is involved in mystery. That the gold was found in the place indicated by him appears certain, and it is to this strange individual, therefore, that we are indebted for it—but he never again appeared on the public stage.

Vital Statistics of England.

According to the annual report of the British Registrar-General, just issued, it is estimated that the population of Great Britain—England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales—in the middle of 1858 was 22,626,754, and the excess of births over deaths in the year was 326,488. The number of children born alive was 559,676, 351,546 persons were married, and 515,188 died; so that on an average upon every day in the year 2,080 children were born, 962 persons married, and 1,405 died, leaving a gain of 675 as the result of the day. Rather more than 1 in 40 persons are born in a year as are married. To 1,000 persons living in the two countries, the births in the year were 24 in Great Britain, and 27 in France—a very striking difference. The deaths, 23 in Great Britain, and 24 in France. Persons married, 15.5 in Great Britain, and 16.9 in France—every near equality.

In England and Wales, to every 1,000 girls, 1,045 boys were born, and 102 males died to every 100 females; but there are more females than males living in England, and out of equal numbers born 30 males died to every 100 females, the average in 21 years being 107. The births are always most numerous in the first half of the year. There were 43,305 children born out of wedlock in the year, or 1 in every 15 of all the children born alive. The proportion of boys among the illegitimate births is larger than among the legitimate by about two in every hundred. The marriages of minors increase.—The proportion of minors in 10,000 persons marrying increased from 885 in 1843 to 1,212 in 1858. The marriages in 1858 were less than the average. The mortality was high. The number of merchant seamen at sea is calculated at 177,822, and 3,489 deaths at sea among this class are reported for the year.

CROTALL—Mons. Peter Masters, one day last week, found four mules from here, killed two of these animals, generally known as the diamond rattle-snake, one of which he brought to town. It measured nearly six feet in length and ten inches around the body. It presented, with a vivid imagination picturing its fangs protruding and poison, quite a formidable object. It had fifteen rattles, indicating an age of eighteen years. It is probably generally known that the fangs of this snake lie flat upon the inside of the upper jaw, that, as they strike an enemy, the jaw is drawn back so as to bring the fangs out nearly perpendicular to the jaw, in which position they press upon little bags or vessels containing the poison. The fangs being hollow, their presence upon the bags of poison, when the blow is given, causes the injection of the poison through the fang into the wound, and thus this fatal poison is thrown at once into the circulation of the blood. It is said that the poison is in no way injurious taken into the stomach. It is only deleterious when mingling with the blood. These fatal little darts to the snake itself as to the other animals, and, when greatly enraged, they have been known to bite themselves, and die of the wound in a short time. The banded rattle-snake, sometimes found in the northern States, is a smaller and different species from this, though equally venomous and fatal in its bite. The rattle-snake is peculiar to the American continent.—[St. Augustine (Fla.) Examiner.

☞ The census returns are so far reported that the New Hampshire papers put the population of the State at 325,000, an increase of only four thousand in ten years. There is a falling off in the rural towns and a gaining in the manufacturing. Portsmouth has sunk a little.

A CARD.

TO DRUGGISTS AND ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

YOU ARE HEREBY CAUTIONED from buying of one "JAMES McDONNELL, General Agent," a preparation styled "Dr. Mozart's Miraculous PAIN KILLER," it being an infringement upon the Trade Mark of Perry Davis, for his valuable and popular "PAIN KILLER." That name is his property, in Trade Mark. The right to same has been sustained in several suits at law, and all found selling, manufacturing, or otherwise treating on his Trade Mark, will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

This man McDonnell advertised his miraculous preparation in the Cincinnati Commercial, one insertion, September 11th, and used the names of several leading druggists as his agents—all without their knowledge or consent. We this day visited most of these druggists, and found he had called on them, leaving his flaming circular, and represented to many small dealers that he had sold large bills to the wholesale druggists, &c., to induce them to buy a few dozen. We find he made no such sales. We took immediate steps to put an injunction on his infamous work, which he got rid of, and, we are informed, took the mail-boat for Louisville, this day, to look out for him!

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR

PRICKLY HEAT, PIMPLES, DRY ERUPTIONS, and all IMPURITIES OF THE SKIN fade and disappear after a few applications of this great Salve. In these cases brisk friction is necessary. Many of the ordinary eruptions are caused by SUPPRESSED PERSPIRATION, and as this penetrating ointment at once opens the pores and invigorates the whole system, it dissipates the inflammation by a double process. Ladies, whose faces or arms are disfigured by CUTANEOUS DISEASE, may readily remove the blemish and restore the skin to its natural tint by the use of this safe but powerful counter-irritant. PALMER'S LOTION IN NEW YORK.
THE GREAT SKIN PURIFIER TRIUMPHANT.

New York, July 25th, 1859.

MR. S. PALMER, Cincinnati, O.—Dear Sir: I write to inform you of the remarkable cure effected on me by your Vegetable Cosmetic Lotion. For years I was a chronic sufferer afflicted with what the Physicians called Chronic Eczema, from my face to my feet. My head was a living mass of blotches—attacked my hands; also my face. After trying various remedies, I entered the City Hospital and remained under their care for forty days. Left it no better, but rather grew worse. I then entered the Sisters' Hospital, and a treatment of six weeks at the latter institution resulted in no good whatever. My sufferings during this time was distressing, indeed, being deprived of my sleep at night. I was induced to try your Lotion, and, to my astonishment, however, soon after leaving the Sisters' Hospital, I was recommended by Mr. Chas. Baker, 47 Waverly street, to try your Lotion. I did so, and with the happiest results. In two days I was sensibly better, being almost entirely relieved of the disagreeable heat—in a great pain I had suffered so long, and from that time on was able to attend to my regular duties, and in five weeks was as well as ever, and have remained so ever since. Yours, respectfully DENNIS MURHAN,

WARRANTED PURELY VEGETABLE.

CONCEDED FIVE MILLIONS OF BOXES OF BRANDRETH'S PILLS ARE SOLD YEARLY. THE SALE STEADILY increases, and yet thousands die from colds and fevers, which these pills could certainly cure. Brandreth's Pills are simple, but unmatched for efficacy. How important that we at once secure an advantage over sickness when it can be had at an outlay of only 25 cents.

Mr. J. C. Rainey (ex. of Monmouth county), New Jersey, writes, March 19, 1859:

"I was confined in January last with costiveness for several days, and took ten grains of calomel to obtain relief. I caught cold, I suppose; at any rate, a severe diarrhœa set in, which my medical attendant found it impossible to arrest. This was followed by dysentery. My strength was all gone. Everything passed through me as it entered. A friend from New York, Mr. Oscar Lewis fortunately called on me, and advised Brandreth's Pills. I thought in my weak condition one pill would be enough, but he administered four, and the next morning four more. Much impurity came from me, and, to my surprise, the soreness and pain diminished. One box cured me fully. I am now healthy, with a good appetite."

Sold at principal office, No. 294 Canal street. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by J. B. WILDER & CO., Main street and RAYMOND & TYLER, Fourth street Louisville, Ky., and by all respectable dealers in medicines.

CAUTION.

SPURIOUS AMERICAN WATCHES.

WE are credibly informed that some of the Jewelers of Louisville and other places are selling counterfeit and imitation American Watches for the genuine article, manufactured at Waltham, Mass., and particularly a foreign imitation of our watch, named P. S. Bartley, which is represented to us manufactured in Hartford, Conn. It may be of service to the public to be informed that there is no manufactory of watches in that place. The genuine article of one grade of our watches is named P. S. BARTLETT, WALTHAM, MASS., and all our watches of every grade are marked "Waltham, Mass."

It is hardly necessary to state that such watches are like ours in form only, and are made upon the cheap and system that has already flooded the country with watches that are not only vexatious and a constant source of expense, but usually useless to owners, and when bought for genuine are calculated to injure the high reputation which our watches have attained. We therefore caution the public against buying our watches from any person who cannot furnish a certificate of genuineness for every watch offered for sale, bearing the number of the watch and the signature of the Treasurer of the Company, R. E. Robbins. We also beg to inform those who deal in the spurious article, that legal proceedings will be instituted against them, upon any well authenticated instance of their selling a counterfeit or colorable imitation of any of our products.

THE RIVER Saturday was falling fast with scant three feet ten inches water in the canal by the mark in the evening. During the previous 24 hours the river at the head of the falls had receded two inches and fully one-half foot at Portland, with not over seven feet water on the bar. The weather during the day was clear and warm, but in the evening it clouded up with indications of rain.

At Cincinnati the river continues to fall, but at Pittsburg, at noon Saturday, it was at a stand with four feet eight inches water in the channell by the pier mark.

LAST EVENING the river was falling, with scant 3 feet 9 inches water in the canal, by the mark. During the previous 24 hours the river at the head of the falls had fallen 1 inch. It rained nearly all day, and the weather was very wet and disagreeable.

The Mississippi river at St. Louis, Saturday evening, was slowly rising. The papers state that the rise is but a temporary one, and not likely to improve navigation in the least. The river from Cairo to St. Louis is in a most wretched condition, there being scant five feet water on the bars, and some boat resting on nearly every bar. The J. H. Lucas was hard aground at Turkey Island, with the J. D. Perry alongside, endeavoring to pull her off.

The Mariner arrived from Memphis Saturday evening, and to her officers we are indebted for a manifest. She reports the Ohio river falling with five and a half feet on the shoalest bars to Cairo. The Mississippi river between Memphis and Cairo is in a wretched condition and still falling. She reports six and a half feet water at Helena, and only six feet at Island 34. The Mariner has deferred her departure to Memphis to Tuesday evening, when she will leave in charge of the gallant Archer. The Mariner has large, spacious guards affording the best accommodations for stock.

The E. H. Fairchild cleared for New Orleans Saturday evening with a good trip of passengers and a large amount of stock.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The splendid new packet B. J. Adams, Captain Richey, is advertised to take her departure to New Orleans Monday evening direct. The B. J. Adams is a large, fine steamer, and we assure passengers that it is seldom that they can enjoy the opportunity of traveling on as fine, spacious boat this early in the season. She is a first-class boat, in every respect, and all her officers are courteous and fully competent. The clerk is our friend B. F. Moody, who will be found attentive to all.

We learn by a private telegraphic dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial that the Aurora passed Memphis Friday with only a small portion of her cargo damaged.

We learn from the St. Louis Evening News that the Hannibal City and Warsaw have both laid up at that place.

We learn that the Planet, bound from New Orleans to St. Louis, is in a bad fix. She is hard aground, and pretty high on the bar at Sheep Island, and a good distance away from the channel.

MAIL PACKET FOR HENDERSON.—The Louisville Grey Eagle, in charge of the gallant Daniels, is the regular and reliable passenger and accommodation packet for Brandenburg, Leavenworth, Owensboro, Evansville, Henderson, and all intermediate landings, Monday evening. She starts from Portland at 5 o'clock, and passengers will find her accommodations of the right sort and all right, and all her officers courteous and attentive, with Capt. Sam Halliday presiding in the office.

The boats in the Memphis trade have agreed amongst themselves, to let each boat have its turn—that is, the first boat that arrives in port is to complete her cargo before the other commences receiving. On this account, the Mariner, Capt. Archer, has deferred her departure until Tuesday evening, in order to give the Sam Kirkman time to load to-day. This is a very good rule, and if carried out, each one of the boats in the trade will get a good trip.

The Champion No. 4, which arrived here from Cincinnati Saturday, went to New Albany to the wreck of the Jas. Montgomery. An attempt was to have been made yesterday to raise her, but we did not learn whether the attempt was made or not. An attempt will also be made to raise the S. P. Hibbard.

The Peytona is the next of the Louisville packets advertised to leave for New Orleans. Saturday the 22d has been set as the day for her departure, and passengers going South will find her one of the most complete boats on the Western waters. Her accommodations for stock are ample, and in every respect she is a first-class boat.

The Fanny Pearson, a new boat built at Madison, will probably be at the wharf to-day. She is advertised for New Orleans Tuesday, in charge of careful and competent officers.

CAIRO CORRESPONDENCE.

CAIRO, Sept. 15, A. M.

Editors Louisville Courier: Our port list for the past twenty-four hours is as follows:

Friday, 14th.—Flying Cloud, St. Louis for New Orleans; Lady Franklin, Memphis for Cincinnati; Rocket, St. Louis for Cincinnati; L. C. Ferry, Louisville for New Orleans; Bracelet, Memphis for Louisville; Golden State, Louisville for St. Louis; Conewago, Memphis for Cincinnati.

The L. C. Ferry, Capt. Henry McDougall, arrived out at 10 o'clock A. M., yesterday. She had a full trip—full of freight and passengers. She got several passengers here, and left for New Orleans on the arrival of the Memphis. She had a fine freight list.

The Bracelet passed down about the same time, with a good trip of freight, passengers, and stock. She expects to reship at Memphis.

The Golden State had a light trip. She arrived in the afternoon.

The Lady Franklin went up in the morning with about 300 bales cotton and a good passenger trip.

The Rocket left at noon with a barge, and the Conewago left last night at 8 o'clock, with 450 bales of cotton—11 bales for D. Prince, Louisville; also 3 bolts sheep skins for that point.

The Flying Cloud got all the freight she wanted here and left last night.

The City of Louisiana came out at Hat Island on Thursday morning, and had about 4 feet water on her main deck. The Rocket was a few miles below her at the time, but could give no particulars. The bell-boat was near, on her way to the Arago, and would proceed to her assistance. She is, doubtless, nearly up by this time. She had a large freight—no lives lost. She was owned by the Rocket Packet Company, and chartered by the St. Louis and Memphis Company, and is doubtless fully insured.

Commercial.

OFFICE LOUISVILLE COURIER, SATURDAY EVENING, September 15, 1860.

The demand for money continues large, and the bankers and brokers have not a sufficiency of capital to meet it, hence only those having first class paper to offer were able, under any circumstances, to obtain loans. The demand is gradually increasing, while the supply, if anything, is decreasing, and we think that during the balance of the fall the money market will be very stringent. Exchange is quiet at ¼ pf on the East, and par to ¼ pf prem. on New Orleans.

Owing to the unfavorable news from the East and foreign ports, Flour was exceedingly dull and heavy to-day, and prices declined, with a large demand at the declined quotation. We now quote at $5 25 to $5 35 for superfine, $5 50 to $5 75 for extra brands, and $6 00 to $6 50 for double extra fancy family brands. At the close of the market prices had rather a downward tendency. Wheat continues to arrive pretty freely, and it is all taken by city millers and dealers at $1 00 to $1 15 for prime red to extra choice red and white. Corn and Oats remain unchanged, with no transactions reported. Whisky declined to 19½¢, with a fair demand.

Groceries are firm, with an active home demand for Sugar at 9@9¼¢ for prime and fair New Orleans. Molasses was quiet at 42@43¢. Coffee is firm at 15 @16¢.

Mess Pork was very dull to-day, with only a small demand to fill Southern orders, for which 60 bbls were sold at $20 00, but sales of 65 bbls. were made by packers at $19 75. The market is dull at this price, with no inquiry, and in large lots we heard one packer say that he would be willing to sell at $19 50. The demand for Bacon continues very fair, with a good number of Southern orders daily coming in, which are being filled as fast as our merchants are able to ship the goods. The transactions during the past few days have been limited at 10¢ for Shoulders, 12½¢ for Rib Sides, 13½¢ for Clear Rib Sides, and 13¾¢ for Clear Sides. Hams are very firm and buoyant 11¢ for plain canvased, and 11¼¢ for sugar cured. Lard is steady, with a small demand at 13½¢.

We take the following from the St. Louis Democrat of to-day:

THE HOG TRADE.—There was a sale of 600 head made to-day, at $6 net, to average 300 lbs and deliverable here in packing time. Nearly half the purchase money was paid in advance without interest.

In the country, at various points, our traders are buying at $5 to $5 25 net. At Keokuk one packer, Mr. Godman, has bought 21,000 head, and in all some 35,000 have been contracted for, deliverable at that point, at $5 to $5 25 net. Most of these were bought in the interior of Iowa, about the terminus of the Des Moines Valley R. R. It is estimated that 75,000 to 100,000 head will this year be packed at Keokuk, against 50,000 last year. At Burlington 16,000 head have been purchased at about the same rates, or $4 75 to $5 25 net. It is estimated by competent parties that the Hog trade of the West will reach the value of $35,000,000 this year. The whole produce surplus or shipments of the West will reach hundreds of millions.

FLOUR AND GRAIN—Sales of 560 bbls extra Flour at $5 50; 100 bbls at $5 60; 900 bushels Wheat at $1 00@$1 15.

BAGGING AND ROPE—Sales of 30 pieces Hunt's Bagging at 15½¢; 50 coils Hunt's Rope at 8¢.

WOOL—Sales of 1,000 lbs Santa Fe Wool at 18¢.

GROCERIES—Sales of 21 hhds Sugar at 9@9¼¢; 20 bbls refined at 10@10½¢; 8 bbls Molasses at 42¢; 20 bags Coffee at 15¼¢; 2 tierces Rice at 5¼¢.

PROVISIONS—Sales of 125 bbls Mess Pork at $19 75@$20 00; 35 casks Bacon at former rates.

TOBACCO—The sales at the warehouses Saturday amounted to 33 hhds, viz: 9 at $3 45@$3 90; 7 at $4 @$4 75; 1 at $5 00; 4 at $6 00@$6 75; 4 at $7 00@7 60; 7 at $8 25@$8 85, and 1 at $9 00.

From New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A Washington dispatch to the Times says official information received confirms the defeat of Miramon in Mexico. The battle was fought at Zelda, not Lagos, as reported. It lasted only one day instead of five. Generals Encheco and Hernandez were killed, and Alfaro, Ortega, and Andraez were taken prisoners—all of Miramon's party.

Secretary Cobb yesterday reported to the Cabinet several proposals for building the Pacific telegraph. Mr. Sibley contests the responsibility of all parties underbidding him, and the matter will undergo a thorough investigation.

In the U. S. Court yesterday the case of Calvin Durand vs. Capt. Hallins, of the sloop-of-war Cyane, rising out of the destruction of property at the bombardment of Greytown.—The Court decided in favor of the defendant, on the ground that he was acting under the orders of the Secretary at War.

The steamship Bavaria took out $250,000 in specie.

The smack "Whim," of Throggs Neck, was run into last night about 6 o'clock at Hell Gate by steamer Empire State, which resulted in the sinking of the smack and drowning of Capt. Mesner and one man. Another man was rescued but badly injured.

Governor Wise's letter in response to the invitation to attend the late barbecue at Raleigh is published. He says: For my own part I will not concede. I will not secede. I will not acquiesce. I will not submit. I will not compromise any more, but I will fight in the Union as long as I can get a respectable or hopeful plurality, or minority even, of firm, true men to stand by me and with me for the Constitution and the country. In my negroes I have property—rights. In the Union I have political rights, and I will not be the coward or the slave to give the one to preserve the other; and I will give up neither, but fight to the last rather than either shall be assailed or destroyed. In any event, we are on the eve of a dissolution, and the question is simply, Shall it be peaceful, only by our base submission to insult and outrage?—If you will fight, the Union will be saved.

Overland Mail.

FORT SMITH, Sept. 15.—The Overland Mail with San Francisco dates to Aug. 27th arrived here at noon to-day.

Among the passengers is Col. H. T. Titus, of Kansas and Arizona notoriety.

The passengers state that a party of Mexican guerillas had recently made an incursion into Texas to plunder, and had stolen 25 head of mules belonging to the Overland Mail Station at Leon water holes. The mules were not recovered when the mail passed.

It is also reported that the Indians of New Mexico have recommenced hostilities.

The latest mail bound from Mesilla to Santa Fe was attacked by the Navajoes and the conductor and driver killed.

Four hundred Government mules were stolen from Fort Craig by the Indians.

A man who gave the name of Wm. Owen, late of Lonisville, Ky., was arrested yesterday for horse stealing, and committed to jail last night about 11 o'clock. He was forcibly taken from jail, and an attempt was made to hang him to a tree. The noose was being adjusted to his neck when he suddenly cast off the rope and fled. A volley was instantly fired at him by the infuriated crowd, which brought him to the ground. He was then carried back to the calaboose, where he now lies in a dying condition. Another horse thief was brought in to-day, and will doubtlessly share the fate of his companion in crime.

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Before referees a suit has been brought by J. Smith against Prof. Morse to recover 5-16 of the amount of money received by Prof. Morse from the different Governments of Europe for the invention of the telegraph.—The parties have been connected together in the telegraph business for some twenty years, and sometime since a settlement was had between them, when Mr. Smith received $200,000, and two matters in dispute were left open for suit or reference, of which the one in hearing is not finished. The referees are Judges Sprague and Upham, and Geo. S. Hillard.

No one was seriously injured as far as known.—It is supposed that the affair was in retaliation for a disturbance perpetrated by parties burnishing for Bell and Everett at the Douglas barbecue made to Mr. Sherman on Wednesday evening.

SUNDAY NIGHT DISPATCHES

From New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Breckinridge State Committee will publish an address to-morrow, giving their statement of the recent negotiations with the Douglas Committee. They say: "Our candidates will be supported by all the energy and means at our command." The Douglas organization, rejecting the only means by which the State could be prevented from voting for Lincoln, has reduced the practical question before Democrats of New York, in the coming election to one of future organization only. By voting for Breckinridge and Lane, the National Democrats will not only sustain the principles of their party, and preserve a nucleus about which will be gathered a powerful Democratic State, but will encourage their friends, all over the Union, and be received and honored in the next National Convention of Democrats, instead of being rejected and despised, as they surely will be, if they present themselves upon this platform of Squatter Sovereignty, a company with their new allies.

The Douglas sub-committee rejected the proposals of the Breckinridge Volunteer Association, and also declared that they would not, under any circumstances, take any of the electors now on the Breckinridge electoral ticket.
